

Nick Arnette-The Feel Good Funny Guy

- More than just a funny speaker

Nick's programs transform and energize audiences with motivation and humor! With Nick, you get a lot of laughs along with relevant, practical content. His most requested talk is Me, We, and Glee: How to have a great attitude, work as a team, and keep your sense of humor. It encompasses maintaining a positive outlook during these changing times, defining teamwork and enhancing humor both at work and at home. He's even has a written a book that goes along with the talk.

- Known for his clean and clever material

Nick's comic style is friendly and light-hearted. Nick will not only make you and your people laugh, he will befriend and encourage them. Nick can help your group see the lighter side of their problems with his clever stand-up comedy and original brand of good, clean fun! Your groups will appreciate Nick's depth and identify with his observations on human behavior. He will bring humor you can relate to, and will tailor his comedy to your needs, so you'll get a performance made especially for you. Also, you can be assured that none of the humor will be inappropriate or offensive to your audience.

- Nick has performed for hundreds of groups..

including AT&T, Unilever, Adobe, and Motorola. He has worked with such comedy greats as Jay Leno and Jerry Seinfeld, and has performed in all the top comedy clubs, such as the Improv, Catch a Rising Star and the Comedy Store. His TV appearances include A&E, Comedy Central and HBO. Nick Arnette also has a background that includes sales, the hospitality industry, education, and award winning work in mortgage banking.

All this experience means you'll get a performer who is an expert at entertaining your group and who can relate to people's work environments! Nick is perfect for any group that wants to laugh, feel good about life, and leave with some practical advice they can put to use right away. Wouldn't you prefer entertainment that gives you something to feel good about?

- Easy to work with and flexible

Nick Arnette takes pride in being easy to work with and being flexible. He calls clients well in advance, does a pre-event questionnaire and conference calls before each event. He shows up early for every event and treats his clients like good friends. Why do you think they call him, "The Feel Good Funny Guy?!"

- *...our top rating... Most Valuable Event for Me... Most Enjoyable... Your excellent, family-style humor kept them laughing; your work during the breakout sessions pointed out that each of them is empowered to enlist and use humor in the workplace. The actual "how to's" were most appreciated. Guess that means we accomplished all the major objectives we were hoping we'd see. Rod Simon, Director of Marketing/Education South Dakota Credit Union League
- *I was impressed with your interest in "what we do" and willingness to take the time to establish some rapport with our staff prior to the engagement. We look forward to having you back. Edward Stacy, Assistant Executive Director Housing Authorities, City and County of Fresno, California
- *Your humorous stories and message about the importance of humor in the workplace set just the tone we wanted to achieve at our meeting. Steven King, Executive Director Safety Equipment Distributors Association Inc.
- *Mr. Nick Arnette, hands down, held the attention and lifted the spirits of our attendees. Nick presented a very clever and fast paced program to motivate and inspire our workforce to come together as a team. A really first class job! Ms. S. Kelly Executive Officer, IT Defense Contract Management Agency
- *....we wanted our business meeting to be different and more enjoyable than those we've had in the past... everyone says it was the best meeting they've ever had. Mickey Hoke, AT&T
